Rush Obliged. Lloyd George.
U. S. A. Is Thankful.
Bad News for Farmers.
Intelligent Guggenheims.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

The English, or Lloyd George at least, shows intelligence in world affairs. He is renewing commercial relations with Russia, to sell that of which England has too much and buy what England needs. This country dilly-dallies like a chicken trying to make up its mind to cross the road, and a white leghorn chicken at that.

England wants Germany to be admitted to the League of Nations and get back to business with the rest of Europe.

Lloyd George the other day, at the Lord Mayor's banquet, spoke of his native country as the "greatest empire in the world, now in the greatest day of its glory." He means it, he deserves credit for it. Great Britain will remember Lloyd George with gratitude in days when the Anglo-German royal Guelph family will have become a dim humorous recollection.

Lucky for England that she has such a man as Lloyd George. Lucky also for the United States that there is a Lloyd George in England. For, as W. R. Hearst truly remarks, this country's government trails along humbly behind England in world matters. Having new permission, and the example, from England, we shall perhaps also realize that the war is over and get back to international business.

Harding on his trip to Panama will publish a small newspaper and set the type. That is for amusement. When he comes back from Panama he will make the canal that Americans built free to American ships—that is his business.

To tax the American people three hundred and fifty millions of dollars to build a canal on United States soil, as Tariffites say that United States ships have not the right to free use of the canal, is like saying that a farmer would be right to charge his own children for milk because he charges outsiders.

Stocks go tumbling. This hurts the gamblers, but it is educational. The best way to discourage gambling is to make it expensive.

It also unfortunately hurts farmers, for in our system which makes of wheat, corn, oats and hogs chips in a gambling game, farmers must suffer with the gamblers. Corn at 66c, oats at 44c, wheat at $1.72 are not cheerful figures for farmers nor for the country. Farmers won't farm if farming doesn't pay.

Union grocers suffered slap in Sunday's shins, of course. Why don't the United States, as a government, help to market cotton on a big scale, as the intelligent Guggenheims, producers of copper, have worked to market copper, and help their stockholders?

Germany needs copper, but unless she gets credit cannot buy it, with her money worth 5 cents on the dollar. The Guggenheims, instead of sitting down and watching copper drop and piling up on the docks or at the smelters, "bought into" the great General Electric company of Germany at a great bargain in marks. Then, able to keep track of everything, they arranged to send along copper on long credits. This was not done to help Germany GET copper, but to help the Guggenheims and their stockholders SELL copper.

If this government would do for the cotton men what the Guggenheims did for their copper stockholders, Russia and other countries in central and eastern Europe would also gladly exchange quantities of our good cotton and use every bale of low grade cotton available in this country and solve the problem of the cotton planter.

Our customers in Europe are broke, but "extension" of credit, combined with economic assistance, would in the long run keep prosperity here at the same time.

The trouble is that our government seems like one of those caterpillars that the French naturalist tells about. The mud wasp gets the caterpillar, stings it scientifically, not to kill it, but paralyzes it so that it lives until the little mud wasps hatch out. Then they eat the still living body of the caterpillar, which never once tries after the first sting.

The sting of war and profiteering seems to have paralyzed this government so that it, like the caterpillar, can do nothing, but just patiently wait for the next little crop of presidents to hatch out and begin eating.

If you think you are going to escape high taxes, think again. Profiteering that loses your Liberty Bond money in war did not get all there was. The shipping board scandal shows that the country will have to pay two thousand million dollars for shipping board expenditures that have only five hundred million dollars of value on hand. That leaves nineteen hundred and fifty millions for the taxpayers to extend on, as a little shipping board "E."

Taxpayers in twenty-eighteen will wish that 20-cent cigarettes still sold for 10c this year.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING GETS A WARM WELCOME ON HIS ARRIVAL IN PANAMA CANAL ZONE TODAY

PRESIDENT-ELECT TO EAT TURKEY WITH THE PRESIDENT OF PANAMA

(International News Service.)

ABOARD THE PARISIMINA, Nov. 23.—The Steamship Parisimina, carrying President-Elect Harding and party arrived in Cristobal harbor at 8 o'clock this morning, an hour late.

The harbor is in gala attire and gave Harding a rousing reception. The governor of the Panama Canal zone headed a distinguished party welcoming the visitors amid shrieking sirens and whistles.

The President-Elect is spending this afternoon resting at the Washington hotel and may play golf late in the afternoon. Wednesday he will take a boat ride through the Panama Canel and make a call of courtesy on President Porras. Thursday the senator will make his first formal utterance to any foreign nation, delivering a brief address at the formal reception dinner given by President Porras.

Friday the party will be entertained by Governor Harding, when the president is expected to meet many members of American military forces in Panama. On the way home the senator hopes to avoid much speech-making and his wife is not desirous for elaborate and tiring celebrations. The senator is wishing to make the most of his rest period.

Flooded With Invitations
(The Associated Press.)

COLON, Panama, Nov. 23—Senator Harding arrived at Cristobal today aboard the steamer Parisimina. He was given a noisy welcome by harbor craft and was flooded with invitations to public functions. He will stay five days.

ABOARD PARISMINA, enroute to New Orleans, Nov. 23—The Parisimina, carrying President Harding on his recent trip to the Canal Zone, expected to dock at Cristobal today. Harding's schedule called for golf this morning, a trip up the canal and a visit to the president of Panama. Thanksgiving dinner will be taken with the president of Panama Thursday.

TAKES BROTHER FOR INTRUDER, SHOOTS HIM; NEAR DEATH

(United Press.)

SUFFOLK, Va., Nov. 23—Thomas Lassiter is near death as the result of a bullet fired by his brother, Ballard, near Mt. Lebanon. Thomas mistook his brother for a burglar, it is said.

Faith, Hope and Charity Still Held.

It was twenty-five years ago that the late beloved Commodore Bulgopne discovered that Daytona's "latch strings always hangin' out" and that her people's "hearths and hearts are wide." In 1896 he first heard the slogan "Come on inside we've saved a place for you."

It was the great faith, hope and charity of this great man whion not only won for him his desired reward to be called "One who loved his fellow man" but the everlasting tribute of "One loved by his fellow man."

It is with greatest pleasure and pride that the DAILY NEWS chronicles day after day, as it has in the past, the activities of its substantial citizens who believe in Daytona with a big-hearted loyalty not excelled in any other community in the country. As the Triple Cities keep right on growing in size and prestige so will the DAILY NEWS share more and more in their prosperity.

WILL ASK THE U. S. TO CONFIRM WORLD DISARMAMENT PROGRAM IN FULL THOUGH NOT LEAGUE MEMBER

Trappings of Royalty and Militarism Are Notably Missing at Geneva League Meet

By H. N. HICKEY
(N. E. A. Staff Correspondent)

GENEVA, (by aircraft) Nov. 23—It is yet to be seen whether the Council of Nations will even partly justify the optimistic hope of those who took to it to be more than a mere name and rather unpromising if not actually dismal start was.

We shall have a clearing here of these vital questions. The meeting later when the first assembly of the league has more completely and its work can be viewed in perspective as a whole.

But one must be quite forgiven for the feeling of inspiration which come from witnessing epoch-making events and to be thrilled by what is happening every day in the little hall of the secretariat in the Salle des Etats.

Effort to Settle Differences by Peaceful Process is Sincere One.

For the first time in the history of the world great men of all of the earth's five races gathered in a common effort to establish peace. Whether they will only make a promise, but make the same promise, but make the same differences by peaceful means they believe in peace.

That the effort is a whole is a success is more than many pessimistic prophesies in the corridors of the big astounding hotel of the League where the first three days of the first session of the assembly.

It would be a mistake to say that because the great majority of the 123 delegates representing 41 nations are particularly the young

Decorations Missing and Gathering It Like Business Men's Convention

As one views the assembly from the press seats in the gallery he is reminded of any one of a thousand conventions of business men held anywhere in America. The hall is commodious and well lighted, comfortable and clean.

There is no decoration whatever, not a flag or piece of bunting, the walls are white and the ceiling is a plain white. The only ornamentation is the gilt lettering on the pillars which support the gallery.

WAR OR REASON?

War in the steel industry looms again. The American Federation of Labor's twenty-four international unions involved in the steel strike of 1919 are drawing plans for the reorganization of the industry.

That problem is summed up in the impartial and comprehensive report of the Interchurch World Movement on the steel strike. Reduced to its bottom facts it is this:

There is no method whatsoever by which the men at the bottom—and they are the vast mass of steel workers—can bargain collectively with the steel trust.

That more than 50 per cent of the workers in the steel industry work the 12-hour day.

That about one-half of them work the seven-day week.

That the average steel worker's week in 1919 was 24 hours longer than in 1914, and 14 hours longer than in 1910.

That the 12-hour day schedules are compulsory, as is the 18-hour or 24-hour or 36-hour turn, which usually accompanies the schedule.

That for working these hours two-thirds of the steel workers earn from 5 to 25 per cent less than the estimate of the United States government for "an American standard of living" for an average family of five.

If these conditions do not constitute grievances, there is no such thing as a grievance. If it be remembered in this connection that these men are living these hours and under these conditions, produced for the United States Steel Corporation for the first nine months of this year net earnings of $133,296,264, it will be understood why they regard their grievances as worthy of some method of discussion.

The union organizations offer them their only hope. The Steel Corporation has made no move whatever to substitute any other method of collective bargaining, not even a "Rockefeller union" plan.

Unless the corporation does concede this fundamental right, which is taken for granted and is past discussion in every practical industrial country in the world except the United States—war in the steel industry will, it must, come.

FANCIES OF A CHILD

Children are naturally imaginative. The fancies of a child are many and varied and serve a proper role in the intellectual and emotional development.

Unfortunately the fancies may assume an improper trend fraught with serious consequences. This fact is brought out when it is recalled that children as a rule do not harbor resentment, but naturally attempt to solve their quarrels by argument.

On the other hand, a number of children do harbor resentment when their power of self-assertion has been stunted through following the lines of least resistance in the settlement of childish disputes and discords instead of meeting them frankly and squarely.

The children of this type are given to so-called day-dreams and reflections over supposed wrongs. They weave fancies about suppositious injuries which give a species of satisfaction and contentment.

These fancies, unless properly directed, ultimately become fixed habits of thought, which make for poor mental adjustment in after life. For this reason, any system of training children should take into consideration their imaginative faculties and the tendency to build air castles and weave fancies.

When properly controlled these are healthy substitutes for the whimsical and capricious longings of childhood that may ultimately result in mental maladjustment.

For this reason the real or fancied wrongs of children should be settled without delay, the discomforts and discords should be smoothed to the satisfaction of the child and he should be encouraged to make confession of his feelings and doubts.

"AND A LITTLE CHILD—"

There are three and a half millions of little children in central and southeastern Europe, who are the victims of the most merciless war of all time.

Hollow-eyed, emaciated, starving, they are holding up their shriveled arms in silent supplication to the people of the West, of America, pleading: "Help us, or we die." Cold, hunger, sickness, starvation are the things they face. Helpless little kiddies, much like your own, they are dying, dying.

But big souled Americans, at an appeal by Herbert Hoover, have come to their aid. They are about to raise $22,000,000 to save these children. Can everyone may contribute.

They say:

"Ten dollars will provide the coat and boots and stockings and one meal a day for one child this winter. We urge everyone to give quickly as many of these units as possible, to buy for themselves that precious and priceless thing, the life of a little child. But as many as they can, and every one will be a shining star in an eternal crown. It was the Divine Love of little children, who came to earth as a little child, and who reigns now as the King of Glory, who said, 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, ye have done it unto me.' Let us have a great outpouring of love and helpfulness in the name of Him who said, 'Feed my lambs.'"

The Literary Digest has started the ball with $25,000. President-elect Warren G. Harding has sent his check for $2,500. Every gift will be acknowledged if sent to the Literary Digest Child-Feeding Fund, 354-360 Fourth avenue, New York.

THE BIGGEST FARM

Three years ago the country was startled by the news that Wall street had gone into the farming business, the Morgan firm put up the money for a 200,000-acre Montana farm; its land was to be reclaimed and introduced to the plow for the first time. Many persons said Wall Street would fail at farming.

This year has been the first real test of the venture. Nearly a million bushels of wheat have been threshed off considerable flax and oats. In all 42,000 acres were cultivated. Within five years it is believed the whole 90,000 acres will produce food.

Morgan is making good as a food producer.

But the greatest share of credit should be awarded to Tom Campbell, a "regular" farmer, who conceived the idea of interesting Wall Street money in what was to be (and is) the biggest farm in the world. Campbell has two other ideas: the all-marble farm, and the boat-load-to-be-offed program.

On this biggest of farms there isn't a horse, nor a mule, not even a dog; no animal other than human. Everything is done by machinery. By the exclusive use of man and machine Campbell gets 8,000 bushels of wheat per man per season, which will make up into quite a few loaves of bread!

Living in a machine age Farmer Morgan also discarded some other moth-eaten farm habits. He has a bookkeeping system on the farm. He keeps track of every dollar, every acre, every man and every machine. The biggest farm is a business; not a thing of guesswork and trusting to luck.

WHY NOT CHRISTMAS?

In a few weeks the civilized peoples of the world will be talking of Christmas and its joys. They will be preparing to celebrate the birthday anniversary of the Redeemer, who liveth.

A long, long time ago there crept into the English language an abbreviation for the word Christmas, that many feel ought to be eliminated. It is the abortive "Xmas." Why not write it out, plainly, "Christmas?" It is only a few more letters. "Xmas" isn't satisfying. It doesn't seem to show the proper respect for an occasion so great.

It is easy to see how the use of the shorter word came about. "X" happens to be the first letter of the Greek word for Christ. The fact that the letter X is cross-shape also lent color to its use in the abbreviated "Xmas." And history tells us that in the catacombs X frequently stands for Christ. But things that are old are not necessarily good.

Is the world in such a hurry that it cannot stop to write out the full name? What would the world say if in some reference to the Savior he was called "J. Christ?" Sacrilegious, and correctly so. The cases seem almost parallel.

Let's give Christmas presents this year—not "Xmas" gifts.

MORE "GAS" IN SIGHT

When man discovers that he needs something indulgent old Mother Nature stirs and says:

"All right, Boy, here it is!"

Man has been worrying himself grey about the impending famine of gasoline.

Scientists figured it all out—just how many more days the world's visible supply of crude oil would last. It sounded like the final gasp of a run-down battery when the engine won't turn over at 12 below zero.

Now comes the news that the Mackenzie River region of Canada has 200,000 square miles of land under which are enormous quantities of oil.

Also—of perhaps more immediate importance—is the activity in the Tar Sands district of Alberta, which is simply soaking in oil. There are 180 cubic miles of these tar sands, containing enough oil to supply the world several centuries, at present consumption.

The oil strike at Fort Norman, on the Mackenzie, was made by prospecting geologists employed by the Imperial Oil company, a Canadian subsidiary of John D.'s. The head geologist of the expedition, T. A. Link, is quoted as saying that this wide area will develop into an oil field rivaling Mexico's big production.

Step on the throttle and trust Nature to furnish the juice!

HEADQUARTERS OF "BOOTLEGGERS" IN HID IN A CEMETERY

(International News Service.)

DENVER, Nov. 23.—A "leading whiskey" must amid the tombstones of a cemetery here is the latest discovery of Denver police and prohibition officers.

Among the monuments and memory stones of Riverside cemetery, on the outskirts of this city, is located the headquarters of an extensive bootlegging ring, police declare.

Where the white and granite shelterer against the storms of the years a clique of "dealers" cater to trade in moonshine and by the price of booze for the underground trade, according to police officials.

For weeks police and prohibition officers have searched for the headquarters of an extensive bootleg trade. Large stores of "white mule" and other illicit liquors have been disposed of. It was said, via the "underground" route, coming to the surface later in many speakeasies on Denver streets and many "hot" parties in the nearby residences.

A "tip" to the police from motorists who travel the Brighton road led to the discovery that the dark shadows seen flitting among the tombstones were believed to be connected in the liquor traffic.

There isn't the least doubt, but what sales are made, prices arranged and wholesale operations conducting within the cemetery, declared a police sergeant in charge of one of Denver's sub-stations.

The "bulls" and "busts" of the cemetery changes are strong evidence, this officer says, and should turn out lights and maybe thrill some wife perturbing night-gowned housewives in the nearby residence zone.

Police declare that while the men of leading wears in Denver the population can be traced to the "speed of itineraries" who built their residences in the prohibition district, which is seldom the customers prefer to be considered.

Automobile parts of large size used to have been exchanged in the cemetery with only the night as an accomplice, and it is considered not out of the ordinary to see the headstones of the "dearly departed" in front of the "liquor supply" of the bootlegging fraternity.

The first monument to be erected in America was placed to Charles Thurber in Worcester, Mass., in 1845.

Aviators Expected to Reach the Beach Latter Part of Week

Mrs. Amelia Bishop of the Hotel Astor, and mother of William Lindley, the aviator, says she expects her son and Frank Hawkes, who were to fly from Kansas City Sunday morning, to arrive here for Thanksgiving day. Bishop reports that several aviation concerns are planning for a stock company here with Curtis Flying Co., Inc., located here, and Curtis N-9 flying boats to be used.

Mrs. Bishop feels the aviators will be very busy during the winter and she is ready to do anything possible to help them. She says that she has opened a boarding and rooming house for aviators under the name Astor Apartments and that she has had letters from aviators from all over the country asking for rooms. She says that she has been offered a position as manager of a hotel in Miami, but that she has decided to remain here with her son and Frank Hawkes.

Lindley and Hawkes have not arrived, neither have Curtis boats for the hatches of eggs.

President Bailey of Chamber Commerce Gives Indisputable Facts for the Consolidation

Many Municipal Matters Would Be Easier Handled

"Everybody about here knows that as president of the Chamber of Commerce I am for as close a relationship as possible between the two towns," said Guy G. Bailey, when asked what advantages the people of Daytona Beach and Seabreeze might expect from consolidation.

"Considering the geographical location of the two places, separated only by the middle of a street, which no stranger would imagine was the dividing line between two growing municipalities, nor would such realize that there could be separate corporations within such close proximity, owing to the fact that our streets continue north and south through the two towns under the same name. Then our beach also extends along the ocean front before the two cities. No one passing along the beach, if they did not know, would imagine they were passing two towns. It is also true that our water system, public schools, electric light and gas service are derived from the same plants. Also the voting precinct for the state and county — the two places are combined in one, it is a proved fact that no two municipalities so closely allied and at the same time under separate city governments, can unite on civic questions of vital importance to the growth and welfare of both communities without more or less friction and factional feeling. Petty grievances will always show up which may in turn become detrimental to all the people concerned, when as a matter of fact all such trifling matters should be settled by some single head that has the authority, and all bickerings avoided.

"It has been my observation in the traveling throughout the country I have done, that in order for a municipality to fully succeed there positively be a close association between all civic organizations, and the people who should all have a voice in the local government and in no way is this better arrived at than through the council forum, where all sections of a city have direct representation through the councilmen chosen by popular vote. The matter of the reduction of the public expenses by consolidation is also worthy of serious consideration. We are greatly in need of general system of disposing of the garbage from both towns, the cost of which could be greatly lessened if the two corporations would act together and secure the services of a qualified sanitary inspector. Such a officer could also look after the elimination of possible mosquito breeding grounds, for which condition we are now the most fortunate among coast towns.

With regard to the fire fighting machine, President Bailey said: "The cost of operation and maintenance would be greatly reduced with a consolidated government, owing to the condition as it now exists. The water mains in parts of Daytona Beach should be replaced with larger mains, and especially is this true in Seabreeze. This necessary expense would fall almost entirely on Seabreeze if these improvements were made under the present situation, while if these enlarged pipes were paid for and laid at the expense of all the residents of both places the individual expense to each taxpayer would be much less. This action would also reduce the insurance rate and every property owner thus directly benefited. This improvement would also prove an incentive to investors who are thinking of spending a good deal of money in this neighborhood.

"We have a beach here," continued Mr. Bailey, "as the Lord gave it to be, known by name the world over and now is the time for the citizens of the municipalities to have the municipal pot their shoulder to the stone and play the game of tug of war for the great good for the welfare of a one-ness and harmonious community.

Aviators Expected to Reach the Beach Latter Part of Week

Mrs. Amelia Bishop of the Bishop hotel, and mother of William Lindley, the aviator, says she expects her son and Frank Stanton, who were to fly from Kansas City Monday morning to arrive here by Thanksgiving. Mrs. Bishop reports that several applications are awaiting the young men here from boys who desire to learn to operate an aeroplane. Letters have come for them from Peoria, Ill.; Imperial, Neb., and Union, N. J.

Mrs. Bishop feels the aviators will be very busy during the winter, and she is ready to do anything possible to help them. She says her son assisted in training 101 young men for the aeroplane service during the war, some of them sons of millionaires, and that she fed and looked after them all, a service she was very glad to be able to give.

Lindley and Stanton have conducted airplane flights here for a number of seasons past.

ENGINE'R MILLER EXPLAINS STAND OF SEABREEZE

From Councilman W. C. Miller of Seabreeze the News is in receipt of the following self-explanatory letter:

Seabreeze, Fla., Nov. 20, 1920.

The Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Daily News.

Gentlemen:

In your issue of November 18th last I wish to comment, in the interest of approximate accuracy, and also as a fair deal to Seabreeze and its council.

The impression a reader gets is that "factional feeling" took precedence of "reason" in making decision about accepting or rejecting Daytona Beach's offer as to fire fighting.

This is not so—the proposition to Seabreeze was not a good business one for Seabreeze, under our conditions. That—and that only—led to its rejection, with thanks for the offer.

I have no personalities to air, but a few parties who live in both Daytonas should like to see an effort made by tons Beach and Seabreeze to be fair and impartial; in many ways they are not.

As a member of Seabreeze council I resent such unfairness. The other night at the meeting, on two occasions, I asked anyone in that meeting to give a valid argument why we should join as requested and got no answer.

There are many technical sides to this subject which I will refrain from producing in this article, having no wish to keep alive any irritation on the subject.

The last few days I have been told that our Clarendon storage pool water, pumped by our fire engine into the combined mains, was filthy dirty, rotten, etc., etc. Now, when it left our storage, it was sweet and clean, drinkable, and in good shape. The real trouble was, water on and off as the mains stirred up any sediment and carried it along with the flow of water.

This action is usual in iron pipe lines, especially with this type of well water.

But speaking of "factional feeling" it seems to me a sample of such when a simple event as this meeting leads to a totally misleading idea.

I personally made a visit to the Daytona Beach water works with the idea of helping out by starting up our plant if necessary on a time limit—for both Daytona Beach and Seabreeze's benefit. What I saw at the plant is not germane to this letter. We went to help and in the right spirit. Also, we were able to, had it been necessary. Thanking you for courtesy. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) WM. C. MILLER,
Engineer.

316 Earl Street, Seabreeze.

Gilmore's Time Is Soon Up; Reed Has Three More Years

From one authorized to speak, the Daily News is assured that in case the towns of Seabreeze and Daytona Beach should be consolidated, it could and would be arranged so that Postmaster H. D. Gilmore of Seabreeze would not be without a good job. That he would have at least the second best place in the combined offices.

Those who have been hearing that Postmaster Gilmore would get the worst of it in case of consolidation evidently do not understand that his commission only has a few months to run, while that of Postmaster Reed has about three years of life. It will thus be seen that it may be of decided benefit to Mr. Gilmore if he could be taken care of for at least three more years in the combined office.

"Of course I have no way of knowing how long I will remain in office, as I do not know what policy the Republicans will pursue," responded Postmaster Reed to the News representative yesterday morning in response to a question. "I do not claim that postmasters of our class," continued Mr. Reed, are in the classified service or that the new administration will not be able to put out of us most any time they wish. If those in power are courteous enough to pursue the usual policy of permitting postmasters, who have nothing against their official records to serve out the time for which they were appointed, then I expect I will serve three years more, but if they adopt the policy of getting rid of us as soon as possible then I have no way of knowing whether I will remain months or years."

Postmaster Reed speaks in a most friendly way of Postmaster Gilmore and it was very evident from what he says that he would be the last person in the world to do anything or advocate anything that would injure his neighbor official. Mr. Reed believes, however, the consolidation of the two places would result in the most good to the greatest number, and is frankly of the opinion that this action would have been taken some time ago had it not been hindered by a very few selfish people who have had little interest in the general good of the whole community.

Summer Baseball Depends on Funds to Cover Deficit

From expressions of opinion of a score or more of baseball fans who attended the annual meeting of the Daytona Baseball association Monday evening at Casino Burgoyne, it is desired that baseball be continued in Daytona next summer, but it was also emphasized that it will be necessary to raise in the neighborhood of $10,000 before definite plans can be made.

A canvas of business men and citizens will be made shortly in efforts to line-up this amount of money, and if sufficient encouragement is given, plans will be forwarded for next year's season, as a member of the Florida State league.

President "Don" Morris and Secretary-Treasurer Will Gardiner, are succeeded in office for the coming year by H. T. Titus as president and H. C. Sparkman as secretary, with F. N. Conrad as vice-president and treasurer. The directors elected Monday evening include the three officials and A. Van de Vord, C. E. Luther and H. Cattaneo, all royal boosters for local baseball.

It was explained that receipts last year totalled $10,540.14, and expenditures reached $21,235.35, leaving a deficit of $10,695.21. A portion of this deficit came out of the capital stock of the association, while Mr. Titus donated several thousands of dollars which he had put up. Mr. Conrad was the next biggest benefactor, his donation for last season totaling $1,500 which was applied to the cost of the grandstand.

It was also explained that it will cost about one-half as much this year to run the team as last, as the club already owns a dozen or more players to form a nucleus for the team of 1921.

Response by business men and citizens to the call for funds will determine whether Daytona will have summer baseball next year.

OVERLAND AND A FORD IN COLLISION MONDAY

An accident, from which the participants escaped injury most fortunately, occurred about 5 o'clock Monday, at the intersection of First street and Peninsula Drive, when J. D. Reed of Daytona, driving a new Overland ran into the rear of the Ford in which Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Garrison and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mitterling were riding turning the Ford turtle, and throwing out the occupants, but ally bruising them slightly, the car being quite badly damaged.

The two couples in the Ford reside at Bourbon, Ind., and have apartments this winter at 126 Coates street, Daytona Beach. Mr. Reed assumed all the blame for the accident and did everything possible to assist the unfortunate occupants of the other car. The accident attracted scores of motorists within a few moments, all agreeing that it was a lucky accident that no one was seriously injured.

WHERE PRESIDENTS COME FROM

All but two American presidents have traced their paternal ancestry back to the British Isles. The exceptions were Van Buren and Roosevelt, Dutch.

The next president is Scotch-Dutch, his paternal family tree taking root in Scotland. Other Scotch presidents were Monroe, Grant and Hayes.

Scotch-Irish presidents were Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Arthur, McKinley and Wilson.

Fifteen presidents, beginning with Washington and ending with Taft, have English paternal ancestry, and thus give to England a large lead in the race of furnishing presidential timber for the United States.

CHESTERFILED, Eng., Nov. 23.—While miners removed 800 tons of debris to free Jesse James and Thomas Watson, intombed in a mine 192 hours here, their mates on the surface kept them amused with funny stories floated through a pipe put to them. At times the stories were stopped long enough for food to be sent down the pipe to them.

Thomas R. Simpson Resident of Beach Many Years Is Dead

Thomas R. Simpson, winter resident of Daytona Beach, residing at 309 Vermont avenue, passed away on Monday evening, after being in ill health for some time. Mr. Simpson, whose summer home is in St. Paul, Minn., has been coming to the beach for a great many years, and at one time was councilman in Seabreeze.

He was born in England in October 1851, having come to America in his early youth. The widow, and one son, who resides in St. Paul, survive him, the son having been notified of his death and is expected at the beach tomorrow.

Funeral services will be conducted from the late home in Marshall Park at 3 o'clock Wednesday, Rev. Chas. F. Goss, pastor of the Tourist church officiating. The body will be placed in the Baggett-Wetherby vault at Pinewood cemetery until spring, when interment will be made at the northern home, St. Paul.

Thomas Bossom of Blake, Father of Mrs. Morris Dead

Thomas Bossom, resident of this vicinity for the past 1 years and for many years resident of Blake, on South Ridgewood avenue, passed away this morning, following a long illness.

Mr. Bossom was the father of Mrs. J. D. C. Morris, and, with his wife, enjoyed their home in Blake, having some years ago retired from business in Joliet, Ill., where he conducted a large meat and provision business.

The late Mr. Bossom, who was in his 78th year, suffered the past months quite seriously, having been operated upon at a local hospital recently, his life having been despaired of for some days.

Funeral services, which will be of a strictly private nature, will be held at Bingham & Maley's parlors, the time to be decided later, when several sons can arrange to be here, having been notified of their father's death.

Heartfelt sympathy is extended by the community to Mrs. Bossom and Mrs. Morris in the loss of their beloved husband and father.

CHILD IS PARALYZED AFTER LONG SLEEP

(International News Service.)

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 23.—After sleeping for three months little Bernal Caldwell, aged ten, has awakened and is paralyzed in the legs and many other parts of the body. The disease of the child has been a puzzle to Columbus physicians. All efforts on the part of doctors to arouse her failed.

She awoke suddenly and without outward cause. She was a strong healthy child.

The citizens of the city are now making up a fund with which to pay the child's expenses in some institution with the hope that she may be cured.

DOUBLE WATER RATES ON THE BEACH; SET FIRE RATES FOR SB.

At the regular council meeting Monday evening, a discussion was entered into, regarding the rate which Daytona Beach should charge the town of Seabreeze, in case the fire truck of the former town was called to a conflagration in Seabreeze at any time. The final rates for calls in Seabreeze were set at $500 for the first call, $400 for the second and $300 for any subsequent calls throughout the calendar year. This information was ordered forwarded to Seabreeze for their files.

Because of increased cost of operation at the Daytona Beach water works, and the added cost of softening plan, it was decided to raise all water rates on the beach beginning January 1st.

The rate in Daytona Beach which has been 15 cents per 1,000 gallons will, at that time, be increased to 20 cents, while the rate to Seabreeze which has been 10 cents, will be increased to 25 cents. Those Daytona Beach prices are for the smaller consumers, discounts on a sliding scale being arranged for the larger water consumers.

Water is sold to Seabreeze wholesale and resold by that town to its customers. It was explained that the increase to 25 cents in Seabreeze will about equal the price in Daytona Beach, after maintainence is paid and operation of the plant taken out.

JUDGES CAN KISS THEIR STENOGRAPHERS

(International News Service.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Nov. 23.—Shades of Blackstone! And Romeo! The Oklahoma State supreme Court has decided it is quite legal for jurists to kiss their stenographers. This decision was handed down in the ouster proceedings brought against Judge R. E. Davenport of Chickasha, in the Grady County Circuit Court, on charges of mutual gratitude. The "mutual gratitude" was a grand jury's indictment upon the judge's act in kissing his stenographer.

A District Court found that the grand jury had no jurisdiction in the case and dismissed the indictment, its verdict being upheld by the Supreme Court. The judge can now go on kissing his stenographer without fear of legal entanglements from the grand jury.

ORDER SHIP HELD FOR BELATED SAILORS

(International News Service.)

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 23.—A detachment of marines and sailors chased the U. S. S. Maryland between New York and this city, for which Uncle Sam will pay out quite a bit of money in transportation.

When the ship was on her way to Brooklyn Navy yard the boys back here were moving over the caldron at Portsmouth.

They arrived a day late and have been three days in the roadstead at Southery expecting to take on coal, and waiting further orders.

The Bureau of Navigation ordered them to return to New York and ordered the ship kept there to fill every gob in the berth.

STATE NEWS

NEW BRIDGE SOON

PENSACOLA, Nov. 22.—A bridge joining Florida and Alabama in the northern part of the county will soon be under construction, if plans of the county engineer work out as he expects shortly. County Engineer W. K. Wheat is to meet the state engineer the first week in December at McCurdy's Ferry, where a site suitable for such a bridge will be selected and it is thought that construction will follow at an early date.

ST. PETE'S BUILDING FAST

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 22.—Building activity in St. Petersburg this month has been unusual and the total cost of new buildings started in the first three weeks of November has reached $196,615. In view of the fact that this is winter and that little building is being done in November in other cities the showing made by St. Petersburg is regarded as remarkable. P. J. McDevitt, city building inspector, had expected a dropping off in the number of building permits and the cost of the new work this month, but instead November is showing up as well as any month in the year.

In the last few days permits have been issued for the construction of nine new dwellings. The cost of these will likely be considerably more than is shown on the permits.

Election in New Smyrna.

NEW SMYRNA, Nov. 22.—The election on a option or rejection of the proposed commission-manager plan charter, as presented by the charter board for the city of New Smyrna, is to be held today in the city council chamber. The polls opened at 8 o'clock and will remain open all day and the election will be under the usual regulations as are all other municipal elections.

The board of election commissioners of the charter board, which will have charge of the election, is composed of H. C. Phillips, L. A. Hopkins and R. La Chilton.

There will be but one proposition to be voted for at the election, "for" and "against" the commission-manager plan charter.

W. P. B. TO ISSUE DIRECTORY

WEST PALM BEACH, Nov. 22.—Publication of a classified business directory to contain the names of the members of the Chamber of Commerce, and also of a reader guide containing information that will be of benefit to visitors to the city, including locations of the chamber's committee rooms, was approved at a special meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce Thursday evening. The guide will be issued shortly after December 1.

At the next regular meeting of the chamber directors, on Friday, November 26, it is planned to take action with regard to asking the Motor Land company to make certain improvement changes in the road for land donated to the county fair, so the present fair ground can be sold and a new and larger site selected.

FRANCE'S GREATEST ACE ENTERS POLITICS

DEBTS OF LITTLE ORPHANS, HOMELESS AND HELPLESS CHILDREN, FROM TINY BABIES ON UP, BE TURNED OUT INTO THE STREETS IN FLORIDA BECAUSE THE GOOD PEOPLE OF FLORIDA HAVE WEARIED OF WELL DOING?

The Children's Home Society of Florida—"Florida's Greatest Charity"—a state-wide and interdenominational work for homeless and needy children, with state headquarters at 428 St. James Building, Jacksonville, Fla., in spite of the MOST URGENT appeals for financial aid during the past two months, has failed by several thousand dollars to secure funds enough to provide for MORE THAN A THOUSAND little ones that have received the aid and care of the Society during the PAST TEN MONTHS, and RIGHT NOW is in a very CRITICAL CONDITION, for not a dollar can be borrowed, and unless more funds can be secured the great work MUST BE DISCONTINUED. This would mean that SCORES of ABSOLUTELY HELPLESS little children from tiny babies on up, would have to be TURNED OUT INTO THE STREETS, for every other children's home and orphanage in the State is crowded now.

Hundreds of last year's contributors to this great work have not sent in their contributions as yet—and thousands of men, women and business firms all over Florida have never given a dollar to keep these little orphans from starvation and death.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE ABOUT THIS MATTER, AND IT MUST BE DONE RIGHT NOW if the Children's necessary work is to go on. What will you do, what will you do today? EVERY DOLLAR will help a WHOLE PILE. Please send it to R. V. Covington, Treasurer, 428 St. James Building, Jacksonville, TODAY WITHOUT FAIL.

AND LISTEN. We are in DESPERATE NEED of children's wearing apparel, of every KIND, SIZE and STYLE, and will warmly welcome staple provisions, vegetables, fruits, canned goods, jellies, preserves, syrups, or chicken, meats and a turkey or two for Thanksgiving. All such articles should be sent to 1944 Riverside Ave., Jacksonville.

AND LISTEN AGAIN. Can't your girl YOUR [illegible] school or the school, or your club or lodge, or some church or Sunday school, or some other organization, to take up a special offering for our little ones? Can't you get a few friends to assist you in this? Won't YOU? [illegible]

My Adventures in the Midnight Frolic!

Edith May, the Prettiest Salesgirl in America, jumped from the quiet obscurity of a backwoods Wisconsin village to the heart of hectic Broadway, overnight, landing backstage in the famous Ziegfield girl shows—first the Follies, then the Midnight Frolic. Edith May (Leuenberger) was born in Depere, Wis., and lived there all the 17 years of her life. She had never been in a skyscraper; had never been to a theater (except the village movie); had never eaten in a city restaurant or slept in a hotel or Pullman car. Then suddenly she won the National Salesgirls' Beauty Contest, and was whisked to New York for her prize—a trial in Ziegfield's shows and Mayflower movies. This is her own story of her adventures and experiences to date. "Cousin Jim" referred to in the stories, is her cousin who accompanied her as chaperon. "Friend Lady" is a woman writer who helped her get started in her stage career.—EDITOR.

NO. 2—THINGS I'D NEVER SEEN

By Edith May

Imagine meeting in New York a friend from home! But that is what happened. We just ran into her at a restaurant.

"Well—what are you doing here?"

I felt like an idiot, telling her I had won the National Salesgirl's Beauty Contest. And that Friend Lady had brought me to New York to have a try in a Ziegfield show and then in a Mayflower movie.

I suppose Mrs. L. thought I had lost what mind I ever had. She looked at me funny.

"It's really true," I groaned. "We're staying at the Waldorf and everything."

"You don't mean it! Well, I'm mighty glad. You always were a pretty good sort—yes, I do believe you're lovelier than ever. Good luck, dear! Send you and Cousin Edna to visit me for a week end, say."

Mrs. L.'s home is at a beautiful place on the coast of New Jersey. I tried to imagine what the seashore was like but never pictured anything so delicious as it really is.

When the ocean first burst upon me I could hardly realize it was not just a picture. I felt like the princess in the story when she first saw the ocean. "For the first time in my life," she gasped, "I've seen anything there's enough of."

Real Thrill When She Saw Ocean.

I had always seen any water bigger than a river. The immenseness of this sea of flowing blue-and-white meeting the sky on all sides gave me a thrill, plus a frightened feeling. I felt like running to mother.

But I soon got over the strangeness and liked it—liked everything at Lakewood, but the ocean.

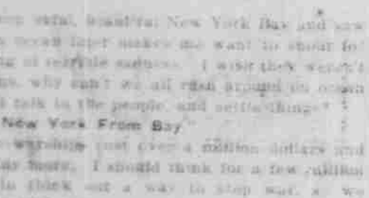
We had motor rides on smooth roads past handsome summer homes all along the sea, with tennis courts out back and lawns like green carpet.

We played the piazzas and the victrola and danced and had wonderful food to eat, and met loads of nice people, who seemed interested in me and quite glad I'd been wanted to go back to Morton, Wis.

But was I still sure? Why, I am so dazed yet, so in the midst of adjusting myself that I can't get my feelings straightened out. I'm like the man who "can't see the forest for the trees."

The young people look at me curiously. But the older ones have a sort of pity in their eyes. I tell them my head is just as much turned as they think.

Today is the greatest day we've had. Beautiful New York Bay and saw Statue Liberty and warships. An ocean liner makes me want to shout for joy. The world's given me a feeling of terrible sadness. I wish there weren't any war. Whenever war threatens, why can't we all rush around to ocean liners and warships. And it wouldn't take ten years either.



Best View of New York From Bay.

Father told us some of those warships cost over a million dollars and in ten years they're no good any more. I should think for a few million we could hire somebody to think out a way to stop war, so we won't need warships. And it wouldn't take ten years either.

The most glorious view of New York is from the bay as your boat makes to dock. It is then a fairy city, with castles and towers of carved lace and precious stones rising into the clouds. To think that men can work miracles!

Then I marry. I believe it will be to an architect or a builder of ships—warships, and we shall have a house in the seashore like Mrs. L.'s.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY IN BUILDING OVER SOUTHERN STATES

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23—Foremost in importance in the industrial news of the south as published in the Manufacturers Record of the current week, is the announcement from Bogalusa, La. that the Great Southern Lumber Co., will make additions to their paper plant there at a cost of $5,000,000. These extensions will consist of four additional units, each with a daily capacity of 125 tons, the product to be high-grade book paper, heavy wrapping paper and cardboard for cartons. The company controls several hundred thousand acres of timber in Louisiana and Mississippi, which, after the timber has been cut will be devoted to the propagation of pulp woods.

A paper manufacturing company of Chattanooga, Tenn., will make additions costing $750000 and at New Orleans a manufacturer of crepe paper will build an additional unit at a cost of $250,000.

With increased demands for Southern timber, much interest is now being manifested in the industry since the early revival of steady business, although not in large volumes, is presumed. At Stearns, Ky., 100,000 acres of hardwood timber land will be accessible for development with the completion of 10 miles of additional railroad lines at a cost of $450,000. Aerial railways and skidders will be used to get the logs to the railroad which will convey them to a mill of large size to be erected at Stearns.

In Watauga county, North Carolina, New York interests have obtained title to 6,000 acre tract of timber and next year contemplate the construction of 21 miles of railroad thru it. A large lumber mill will be placed in operation with an annual capacity of 30,000,000 feet.

At Rocky Mount, N. C., the capital of a lumber company has been increased from $150,000 to $500,000. At Baltimore a mill-working company has incorporated with a capital of $450,000.

Unusual activity is reported in the construction of hospitals, churches, hotels, office buildings and theatres, and, despite the approach of winter, many southern cities show increased activity, largely due to the availability of both labor and materials. At Birmingham, Ala., a high-school building to cost $500,000 and accommodate 2000 pupils will be constructed. Shawnee Okla. is to have a fireproof school building costing $241,000. In Baltimore contract was awarded for the first unit of a cathedral to cost $270,000, while work was started in Washington on a $450,000 church building.

Plans are being prepared for a state sanatorium to be erected by the Mississippi state board of health, to cost $1,400,000. At Dallas, Tex., an addition to an established hospital will be provided at a cost of $450,000. A brick and stone dormitory structure will be erected at a cost of $750,000 for a hospital in St. Louis, Mo.

A theatre and office building of reinforced concrete construction, costing $1,000,000 and equipped with the modern devices, will be erected in Kansas City. In Baltimore will have a new office building costing $250,000.

A $300,000 addition to the mammoth plant of a cellulose company in western Maryland will permit the manufacture of artificial silk. In Spartanburg, S. C., and Whitmire, S. C., the erection of two textile manufacturing companies has been announced, involving $1,000,000 in Tuscaloosa, Ala., from $500,000 to $1,000,000 each respectively.

Many miscellaneous enterprises have recently been organized and they increase with a great variety of established plants are adding additional and improved facilities or changing or adding

SOUTH SEEKS RELIEF BY COTTON EXPORT PLAN NOW

BY E. T. LEECH
Editor The Memphis Press

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.—Out of the sensational drop in raw cotton prices and the closing of Central European cotton markets, there has developed here, in the gateway of the South, a movement which leading southern financial men declare will revolutionize the business of the 12 principal cotton growing states.

By December 10, it is expected, $5,000,000 worth of stock will have been sold for the creation of a great southern export bank, and this bank will then immediately begin operations in the single line of financing southern exports, chiefly cotton. The site of the bank will be New Orleans, and its entire stock will be subscribed by southern banks and financiers.

Second Bank Organized Under Edge Law

The bank is unique in that it is the second export institution organized under the Edge law, sanctioning the formation of such combinations in order to promote foreign trade; and it will be three times larger than the first Edge law bank, formed in the East several months ago.

Almost within the last six weeks there have developed in the cotton states two great movements, both in their infancy, yet both making such progress that they promise speedy

The first of these debates solely to the farmer; it is a gigantic co-operative movement for cooperative farmers' organizations to promote better agriculture and unified marketing. The second movement is for co-operative financing of this marketing, chiefly through cooperatives, and its best example is this new export bank, although there are several other export associations on foot which give some degree of success.

These movements are not simply of sectional interest. They vitally affect the whole nation.

Capitalization of $12,000,000 Planned

The Federal Foreign Finance Corporation, the name of the new southern export bank, came into life here at a meeting of more than 100 leading bankers from the entire South. New Orleans bankers pledged more than $1,000,000 in stock, and all banks in the South are being asked to subscribe at least 3 per cent of their capital and surplus. Although a minimum capitalization of $5,000,000 was provided, plans call for an ultimate capital of twice that amount.

"A bank of $12,000,000 can finance exports to the amount of 10 times its capital stock, largely through a system of trade acceptances," Moorehead Wright, Little Rock bank president and one of the directors of the new organization, declared.

Although the new bank will finance exports of cotton, rice, sugar and lumber—the South's leading products—it is expected chiefly at present to furnish an outlet for nearly 6,000,000 bales of "holdover" cotton from the last few years.

FRANCE'S GREATEST ACE ENTERS POLITICS

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS (By Mail) Nov. 13—From death-dealing death-defying flights over the enemy lines, Fonck, greatest aviation ace which the war produced, has since the armistice rendered his life merely to making oratorical flights in the French chamber of deputies.

Fonck has abandoned the air for politics, or rather has taken up politics for the benefit of aviation.

Along with General Castelnau, General Hirschauer and half a dozen other great French military leaders which the war produced, Fonck has entered the field of politics. In all of these men only one motive has been predominant for the change and that has been to see to it that the French [illegible] army, navy and aviation get a square deal and adequate support from parliament.

All of France's great military chiefs from Joffre, Foch and Petain down are still convinced that if the French parliament before the war had listened to their pleas for adequate financial support for the army, France would not only have come out finally ahead by many billions of marks, but by a million human lives at least.

Fonck has given up himself the task of seeing that France's aerial supremacy, to which he contributed during the war by officially bringing his 75 German planes, is assured by adequate support.

As a result of his efforts it is now certain that the French Chamber of Deputies will make appropriations large enough not only to keep up France's military aviation to the standard attained during the war, but to make it become the commercial servant, also, of France's colonial possessions in northern Africa.

France has an officially [illegible] aviation to replace [illegible] the director of the Voisin. He made the aeronautical exposition in [illegible] at the Paris Aeronautical Salon [illegible] Fonck, [illegible] Paris has become the [illegible] special aerial [illegible] city every capital in Europe as well as Paris to France's colonial possessions in northern Africa.

MUST SCORES OF LITTLE ORPHANS, HOMELESS AND HELPLESS CHILDREN, FROM TINY BABIES ON UP, BE TURNED OUT INTO THE STREETS IN FLORIDA BECAUSE THE GOOD PEOPLE OF FLORIDA HAVE WEARIED OF WELL DOING?

The Children's Home Society of Florida—"Florida's Greatest Charity"—a state-wide and undenominational work for homeless and needy children, with state headquarters at 428 St. James Building, Jacksonville, Fla., in spite of the MOST URGENT appeals for financial aid during the past two months, has failed by several thousand dollars to secure funds enough to provide for MORE THAN A THOUSAND little ones that have received the aid and care of the Society during the PAST TEN MONTHS—and RIGHT NOW is in a very CRITICAL CONDITION, for not a dollar can be borrowed, and unless more funds can be secured the great work MUST BE DISCONTINUED. This would mean that SCORES of ABSOLUTELY HELPLESS little children from tiny babies on up—would have to be TURNED OUT INTO THE STREETS—for every other children's home and orphanage in the State is crowded now.

Hundreds of last year's contributors to this great work have not sent in their contributions as yet—and thousands of men, women and business firms all over Florida have never given a dollar to keep these little orphans from starvation and death.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE ABOUT THIS MATTER, AND IT MUST BE DONE RIGHT NOW if this absolutely necessary work is to go on. What will you do about it, friend—today? EVERY DOLLAR will help a WHOLE PILE. Please send it to R. V. Covington, Treasurer, 428 St. James Building, Jacksonville, TODAY WITHOUT FAIL.

AND LISTEN. We are in DESPERATE NEED of children's wearing apparel, of every KIND, SIZE and SHAPE, and will warmly welcome staple provisions, vegetables, fruits, canned goods, jellies, preserves, syrups, or chickens, meats and a turkey or two for Thanksgiving. All such articles should be sent to 1944 Riverside Ave., Jacksonville.

AND LISTEN AGAIN. Can't your get YOUR church or Sunday school, or day school, or some club or lodge or society, to take up a special offering for our little ones—and get up a box or barrel or parcel post packages of children's clothing, provisions, etc., for us? Won't YOU ask them to do it?

AND DON'T FORGET—we have dozens of fine little homeless boys and girls just waiting eagerly for a good home for Thanksgiving or Christmas. Can't YOU or YOUR WIFE take one or two?

NOW DON'T BE LIKE THE PRIEST AND THE LEVITE—AND READ THIS AND PASS IT BY—BUT BE A GOOD SAMARITAN AND DO SOMETHING FOR OUR LITTLE FOLKS IN DISTRESS AND NEED. WON'T YOU?

EARNESTLY PLEADING for SOME AID from YOU TODAY.

We are your fellow workers,
Doing YOUR job,
THE CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY OF FLORIDA
428 St. James Bldg., Jacksonville, Fla.
Judge W. H. Baker, President; R. V. Covington, Treas.
Marcus C. Fagg, State Superintendent.

N. B. Your own THANKSGIVING DAY will be MUCH HAPPIER if you show your APPRECIATION of YOUR BLESSINGS, by doing SOMETHING for the little ones who are absolutely dependent on YOUR AID. I suggest

RICH REWARDS IN THE PRIZE RING WOULD MAKE "OLD GLADIATORS" TURN IN GRAVES

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Farmers with "get rich quick" ideas for their offspring should start saving their boys to be fighters.

What is a $ $ $ worth to get a slugger in the welterweight division to a fashionable graduate of the ring school who can go on and open doors for her back home that is Main Street?

Jack Dempsey, who doesn't know his exact income was a quick study in to get attention for his new town, where hordes of people who are offering him dollars.

Gene Tunney, whose ambition in life was to become a college professor, is spending the winter in Florida and Georgia. He is also the author of a book on boxing and is the husband of the former Polly Lauder, prominent in the set.

Jack Dempsey, who is known as the "Manassa Mauler," is operating a million dollar hotel in New York and is also interested in a string of garages and belt lines.

Richard Harding Davis, who was known as the "dean of American letters," was a fanatic on boxing. He was a member of the Lambs club and was a familiar figure at the ringside.

Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Ruhlin are all in the hotel business.

Jim Jeffries, who is reported to be worth $1,000,000, is a prominent figure in the motion picture industry.

Tom Sharkey, who was known as the "Sailor Man," is a prominent figure in the motion picture industry.

Jack Johnson, who was known as the "Big Smoke," is a prominent figure in the motion picture industry.

Jim Corbett, who was known as the "Gentleman Jim," is a prominent figure in the motion picture industry.

Jim Jeffries, who was known as the "Big Smoke

THE SHORT CUT

Every advertisement in your paper is a shortcut. Advertisements make it possible to tell you in few minutes all you want to know about the service or articles you need.

At a glance you can sift what interests you most and in a moment you know when and where to go for what you want.

Figure how many steps, how much needless walking and talking the advertisements thus save you and your neighbors.

Then you realize the great economy and necessity of advertising in your daily life.

Real Joy Giving.

Joy giving comes within the reach of everybody. Sometimes people make failures of their first attempts. That's because they are too methodical. People want to give joy right away. That's not the way it's done. You must be absolutely unselfish and forget yourself quite as much as you are to get results that count. You must not think of the effects. You must not think of the thing you do you must do it or its own merit. It must be no calculation must be spontaneous good will for another never suggested from without.

Ancient Fuel.

The deepest beds of the coal which makes their little hollows appear for more than 1,000 years, of subsidence deeply, deep before the dawn of modern English history, before the Mussulman invasion, through all the changing scenes and dynasties of northern India, this region has upheld its independence under the same Rajput family. The Rana Bhim Singh has just died. When royalty was thrust upon him 15 years ago by his brother's abdication, he accepted his honors under protest with modesty and dignity and with the fullest sense of responsibility has ruled his state in the interest of his people.

The Budget.

What is known in politics as "the budget" is that miscellaneous collection of matters which accompanies at the annual financial statement of the ministers of finance (or as in Great Britain, the chancellor of the exchequer) to parliament. The budget contains two leading elements, a statement of the income and expenditure for the year that has passed, and the financial standing of the country at the close of the fiscal year, and an estimate of the probable expenditure for the coming year, with a scheme for the raising of the amounts necessary to cover those expenditures.
